We claim:

1 1. A method of sharing supplemental channel resources comprising the steps of:

2   receiving a data notify request; and

3   prospectively assigning currently unavailable supplemental channel

4 resources to support a future supplemental channel for a user associated with the

5 received data notify request if the data notified request was received during an

6 open assignment state.